

Herefordshire based maker Jon Williams from Eastnor Pottery has combined the core elements of his practice; ceramics, sound and public engagement, to produce three site specific interactive works for museum visitors to play and explore:

MUSICAL JUGS

(JACK & JILL)

The Waterworks Museum - Hereford

A potter's bench full of rustic jugs in various sizes & hand-thrown in a selection of different clays. Can you tune the vessels by filling them with water and gently tapping with the beaters provided?

MUSICAL APPLES

(10 GREEN BOTTLES)

Hereford Cider Museum

Gently caress the bronze leaves and stalks of the oversized ceramic fruit to produce notes created from tinkling cider bottles.

MUSICAL HOTPOTS

(ORANGES & LEMONS)

The Old House
Hereford

Play the medieval 'cooking pot' inspired xylophone by striking up a tune on the ceramic bones.

COLLABORATION

Jon would like to acknowledge the inspiring support from the Museum directors as well as the creativity and enthusiasm of the other artists involved in production:

- Sue Knox - Museum Development Officer Herefordshire
- Andrew Findlay - Blacksmith
- Ashley Brown - Creative Technologist
- Timothy Hawkins - Wooden Furniture Design

The project was generously funded by Arts Council England via Grants for the Arts scheme.

3

The Old House

High Town, Hereford HR1 2AA
www.herefordshire.gov.uk/museums
01432 260694

The Old House is a remarkably well preserved example of a 17th Century timber-framed building and is situated in the heart of Hereford, surrounded by the commercial centre of the city. It is a startling sight, standing as the sole reminder of times-gone-by in the middle of a modern shopping precinct.

Opening Times

All year round, Tuesday to Thursday and Saturdays 11am-4pm.

Closed: Good Friday, Christmas Day, Boxing Day and New Year's Day.

Admission: FREE.
